English Language Learner Data Sources

Consolidated State Performance Report (CSPR) is the required annual reporting tool for each State, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico as authorized under Section 9303 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as amended.

Data.ed.gov is a website developed by the Department of Education (ED) to share data about its grant programs.

ED Data Express is a Web site designed to improve the public's ability to access and explore high-value state-level education data collected by the U.S. Department of Education.

ED Data Inventory describes all data reported to the Department of Education, with the exception of personnel and administrative data. It includes data collected as part of grant activities, along with statistical data collected to allow publication of valuable statistics about the state of education in this country.

United States Education Dashboard shows what the U.S. Department of Education considers to be important indicators of how the nation, and each state, is progressing on the outcomes necessary to achieve the national goal of once again having the highest proportion of college graduates in the world.

Civil Rights Data Collection (CRDC) includes data on key education and civil rights issues in our nation's public schools for use by the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights (OCR), other Department of Education offices, and other policymakers and researchers.

National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is the primary federal entity for collecting and analyzing data related to education.

NAEP Data Explorer (NDE). Explore the results of decades of assessment of students' academic performance, as well as information about factors that may be related to their learning.

Child Trends Data Bank includes resources for the latest national trends and research on over 100 key indicators of child and youth well-being.

Migration Policy Data Hub showcases the most current national and state-level demographic, social, and economic facts about immigrants to the US; as well as stock, flow, citizenship, net migration, and historical data for countries in Europe, North America, and Oceania.

U.S. Census Bureau authorized under Title 13 and Title 26 of the U.S. Code, the mission of the US Census Bureau is to serve as the leading source of quality data about the nation's people and economy